WHO SHOULD PARTICIPATE?

Partnering opportunities, including licensing and research collaboration, for Pennsylvania companies at India Bio are best for the following fields: biopharmaceuticals, vaccines, regenerative medicines, tissue engineering, bio-informatics and data management, medical technology, devices, bioprocess engineering, agri-biotechnology, enzymes, and bio-fuels.

WHY INDIA BIO?

Bangalore India Bio is India's biggest event attracting participation from biotech, pharma and allied industries, leading research institutes and all the major biotech states of India. India is among the top 12 biotech markets globally and is ranked third in the Asia-Pacific region after Japan and Korea. The biotechnology sector grew by 21.5 per cent in 2010-11, to cross the US$ 4 billion mark, as revealed by an annual survey conducted by BioSpectrum and Association of Biotech Enabled Enterprises (ABLE). India's biotechnology industry is expected to reach US$ 10 billion, in terms of revenue from the current US$ 4 billion, by 2015. The Pharma/Biotech industry combined is valued at US$16 billion and growing rapidly. India has a product patent regime in force since January 2005 and has the largest number of USFDA approved plants outside of the US.

India's economy presents huge potential for companies. The overall growth of Gross Domestic Product (GDP) of Indian economy was 8.6 percent in 2010-11 and is presently the 4th largest economy in terms of purchasing power parity. It maintains a stable economic and political environment with an industry friendly regime.
